GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, August 21.—The Morning Post has an editorial to-day on the coming International Yacht Race. It says: In a light wind and on smooth water there are several English yachts that may be relied upon to beat Mr. Bennett's American yacht Dauntless at every point. The result of the recent race to Cherbourg and return, as a test, was marred by an accident to the sails of the Dauntless. The impression among yachtsmen is that she does not stand to her canvass, and cannot compete successfully in heavy any more than she can in light weather; but in going free she probably would sail as fast, or faster, than our deep vessels. A yacht race around the Azores islands offers a fairer chance to test the qualities of all vessels. If the Americans will not sail around the Isle of Wight or Ireland, or on a short home course, rather than forego the trial, let us race around the Azores.

As the time for the international boat race between the Harvard College and the Oxford University crews draws nigh the excitement in sporting circles increases. Much of the space in the newspapers is given up to this subject. The following extracts are made from to-day's journals:

[From the Land and Water.]

The balance seems to favor the Oxford crew. If the Americans win, we will not only learn the new style of rowing, but how to maintain it. If the Oxfords win, with six weeks of exercise, without doing their best at any time, it will be an aquatic revolution.

[From the Saturday Review.]

We don't attach much importance to the time made in training. If the Harvard crew win the race, we will acknowledge our notions about our style of rowing are antiquated absurdities.

[From the Spectator.]

The opinion in respect to the crews, and in regard to the chances of victory, are nearly even. The public are inquiring if the Americans have ever put out their whole strength. The route is a hard one, but the race is likely to be close. If the weather is bad, the result will probably be in favor of the Oxfords; if good, the Harvards will win. A nice slow English drizzle is the thing to take the heart out of Americans. Regulations have been issued to keep the course clear for two hours before and until the race is ended.

The weather is fair and favorable for crops.

The Morning Standard to-day has an editorial on Canadian matters. The writer says there are great probabilities of a change in the relations between Canada and Great Britain, which would be likely to be distasteful to a majority of the inhabitants of the Dominion, if they were consulted. If there is any dissatisfaction with the existing state of of affairs, it is only by feelings that we can safely make intelligible to those south of the frontier. All that can be done under the present government is to repudiate the notion that a withdrawal of the troops implies a desire to shuffle out of responsibilities cast on Great Britain by the presence of a flag in colonial territory, which means military administration. England is now in the hands of those who fail to appreciate the Canadian question.

Messrs. Harwood and Hatcher, who were arrested at New York and taken to England for trial on a charge of forgery, were brought up at the Mansion House to-day for a preliminary examination. At the close Mr. Hatcher was discharged and Mr. Harwood remanded for trial.

LONDON, August 21.—Evening.—Mr. Gladstone has entirely recovered his health.

The Oxford crew were out for practice again to-day. They made good pace, with thirty-eight to thirty-nine strokes per minute, well pulled. The Harvard crew were also out, with the Jewett boat. The coxwain's seat has been lowered, which increased their steadiness. They go away briskly at nearly forty strokes per minute. Their rowing is regarded very satisfactory. Good judges think the Harvards are likely to lead in the race. At the special desire of the Harvard crew, Thomas Hughes, ex-member of Parliament for Oxford, has been appointed referee. Mr. Simmons, of the Harvard crew, is slightly indisposed to-day. The betting is now seven to four on the Oxford.

At the scull race to-day Kelly beat Sadler for the championship of the Thames.

SPAIN.

MADRID, August 21.—Admiral Nunez is dead.

The volunteers have petitioned the Government to spare the life of Palo, who was recently captured at the head of a Carlist band.

The Prefect of Perpignan was arrested at Tristam with ten other Carlists who were about to cross the frontier.

Notwithstanding the stories of invasion and insurrection, it is now believed the Carlist movement is ended.

PARIS, August 21.—The La France of to-day says Cuba is lost to Spain, and the wisest thing Spain can do is to take advantage of the present situation.

It is asserted on reliable authority that the preliminaries of a treaty for the cession of Cuba have been signed.

MADRID, August 22.—The troops are still pursuing fugitive Carlists in the frontier provinces and have taken many prisoners.

The wife of Polo, the Carlist leader who was captured at Almagro, has interceded with General Prim for the life of her husband.

Dissensions have arisen in the Cabinet in regard to the manner in which the Government should proceed against those Bishops who have refused to obey the decree of the Regent.

In Barcelona fifteen thousand working men have struck for higher wages and others are expected to join them in the movement. Grave fears are entertained for the preservation of order.

There is a rumor that Gen. Pezulos, Duke of Chester, will be exiled to the Canaries.

The Regent, Serrano, positively denies that he sustains the pretensions of the Duke of Montpensier to the throne of Spain, and declares that he is entirely neutral on the question of the disposal of the crown.

PARIS, August 22.—The French officials have arrested five more Carlist Chiefs on the Spanish frontier.

FRANCE.

PARIS, August 21.—It is now tolerably certain that General Edward Lebous will be appointed Minister of War.

The Presse says a new Senatus Consultum is in preparation, granting autonomy and greater liberties to the colonies.

PARIS, August 22.—The Journal official publishes an Imperial decree appointing Gen. Lebouf Minister of War, to succeed Marshal Niel, deceased.

SOUTH AMERICA.

LISBON, August 21.—The mail steamer from Rio Janeiro has arrived, bringing dates to the 28th of July. President Lopez was at Ascarra. He had plenty of provisions but was short of arms, ammunition and other war material. The allied army had captured Villa Rica and were preparing to storm Ascurra. Barreco was likely to become President at Ascunsion.

NEW YORK CITY.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, August 21, 1869.

The weather to-day is extremely hot. Five cases of sun stroke are reported, none known to have resulted fatally.

The bark Cuba, from Havana, had four men in hospital there, two of whom died. The Captain's child died aboard of yellow fever.

The Postmaster General is in the city.

Three millions in gold were shipped to-day to prominent San Francisco houses by the Pacific road.

The Atlantic Base Ball Club, of Brooklyn, beat the Keystone, of Philadelphia, this afternoon, at the Capitoline grounds, by 34 to 7.

The yacht Freddie capsized in the bay this afternoon. The crew were saved by the steamer Magenta.

This afternoon Jno. Harrison, a wealthy junk dealer, and a girl named Delie Adams, were fatally wounded by pistol shots fired by Capt. Samuel Fass, of the ship Pacific, in an affray which originated in the following manner: Capt. Fass had commenced beating a woman who tried to prevent him from chastising a boy whom he had detected stealing lime from his ship, when Harrison interfered to protect the woman. A crowd collected and an affray ensued. Fass was knocked down and upon regaining his feet pulled out a revolver and discharged it, wounding the above mentioned parties. Harrison was arrested.

Fourteen cases of sun-stroke occurred in this city to-day.

Mr. Timothy C. Churchill, Treasurer of the Lincoln Monument Fund, publishes a letter to-day, in which he states the contract was made some time since with H. K. Brown, the celebrated sculptor and author of the Washington Monument in Union Square, this city, and that he has already furnished a plaster cast of the late President, which was accepted by the Committee and sent to a foundry to be cast in bronze. Mr. Brown has been paid ten thousand dollars on account, and the balance of the fund, eleven thousand dollars, is invested in five-twenty bonds.

The American Flint Glass Works, at the corner of Richard and Commerce streets, Brooklyn, took fire from the furnace yesterday, and before the flames could be extinguished they were damaged to the extent of twenty-five thousand dollars; fully insured.

It is announced that the new and increased tariff of freight charges on railroads to the west, goes into operation to-day, and the ruinous competition between these roads is terminated by a compromise.

A train on the Marietta railroad ran over and killed a man Saturday afternoon, near Loveland. He was a stranger and there was nothing on his person by which his name could be ascertained.

The Coroner held six inquests last night and to-day.

TENNESSEE.

The Secretary of State and Repudiation.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NASHVILLE, August 21.—Mr. Fletcher, Secretary of State, publishes a letter to-day in response to bondholders who wished to know whether they should hold their new bonds. He tells them that their new bonds in law and equity are as good as the old, and recommends them to keep them. He says they cannot be repudiated, because they are collectable by law in the federal courts, either by direct suit against the State or by bill in equity to enforce the State's lien against the railroads for the benefit of bondholders. In conclusion, he says: "Repudiation is impossible for many reasons. First, and above all, because the people of Tennessee are too proud and too honest; because there is not the shadow of justification for it, and because our bonds are collectable in the Courts. It is impossible, in the face of the condemnation of the world. No Legislature can or dare adopt a measure which would brand every Tennessean with disgrace wherever he may go on the face of the earth, and which would make our children's children blush to own their nativity."

—The German Associations of Cincinnati have decided to celebrate Alexander von Humboldt's birthday, September 14th.

To-day is the hottest of the summer, the thermometer ranging from 98 to 105.

PHILADELPHIA.

The Heat—Proceedings of Labor Congress.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, August 21.—The heat is intense; thermometer 102° in the shade.

The National Labor Congress re-assembled at 9 o'clock this morning. A motion that the next Congress be held at Louisville on the 17th of August, 1870, was tabled. A resolution was adopted for the contribution of five cents each, by members of the labor organization, to defray expenses, etc.

The following officers for the ensuing year were elected by the Labor Congress: President—Richard Trevillick, Detroit, Michigan; First Vice President—A. T. Cavis, Washington, D. C.; Second Vice President—Conrad Kuhn, New York; Recording Secretary—J. H Walls, Philadelphia; Treasurer—A. C. Phelps, New Haven, Connecticut.

The new officers were installed, and appropriately addressed the Convention.

Mr. Lucker, the retiring President, moved that this Convention elect a delegate to the European International Labor Congress, to be held in Switzerland, which, after debate, was adopted.

A. C. Cameron, of Illinois, was unanimously elected such delegate, and C. H. Lucker, of New York, associate delegate.

On motion, the Convention proceeded to designate a place for holding the next session of the Convention, and finally Cincinnati, Ohio, was selected.

Mr. Sylvis, from the Committee on the subject of a new political party, reported their inability to report, and by request were continued until next year.

Resolutions of sympathy with the Cuban revolutionists, struggling Ireland and oppressed millions all over Europe, and for the reduction from five to three years of the naturalization term for foreigners in this country, were adopted.

The Chair announced that by the Constitution the time for the assembling of the next Congress was fixed for the third Monday of August, 1870, and at three o'clock in the afternoon the Congress finally adjourned.

ST. LOUIS.

Sale of Government Property—Death from the Heat—Prize Fight Arrangement.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, August 21.—The extensive corral buildings on Strange avenue, occupied by the Government during the war, with some other Government property, were sold to-day at auction.

Two more deaths by sunstroke occurred to-day.

Articles of agreement were signed to-day by Jim Coyne and Patsy Regan, for a fight at 142 pounds for $500 a side, to take place on the 24th of November, in Kentucky, within fifty miles of Cincinnati. If either party weighs more than the stipulated weight he is to forfeit the money up. No arrangement has yet been made for another fight between Allen and Gallagher.

ST. LOUIS, August 22.—Ferdinand Gutman, having a wife and nine children, blew the top of his head off with a pistol this afternoon.

One of the articles of agreement between Jim Coyne and Ratsy Reardon provides that the stakes and excursion money shall be presented to the stakeholder to be disposed of as he chooses.

Henry A. Soria, of New Orleans, was arrested here yesterday, by order of the authorities of that city, LOUISVILLE.

Militia Sent After Regulators—The Excessive Heat—Stabbed at a Ball.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

LOUISVILLE, August 22.—Three companies of State Militia, numbering all told about ninety-five men, left this morning at 9 o'clock for Lebanon, Ky., to be distributed in the lower counties, where the Regulators have been depredating for some time past

The heat to-day has been excessive. the thermometer ranging at times as high as 102 degrees in the shade.

A man named Charley Snyder was stabbed last night at a ball up town by one Joe Bowman, while endeavoring to quell a quarrel between the latter and another individual.

The Heat at Cincinnati.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, August 21.—The weather is clear and roasting hot. Thermometer ninety-one at noon and ninety six about two o'clock. George D. Stiles, agent for Mr. Riggs, tobacconist, fell dead in a wagon from sun stroke to-day, making the fourth death from that cause since yesterday morning.

President Grant in Rhode Island.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PROVIDENCE, August 21.—President Grant was received by the Newport municipal authorities at the State House to-day. This afternoon a brilliant reception was held in his honor at the villa of Ex-Senator Morgan. The gunboat Tallapoosa, with an official party, arrived here last evening.

LATEST FROM CUBA.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HAVANA, August 21.—Advices from Matanzas state that the Captain General had reviewed the troops in that city. They expressed willingness to go into active service.

The rebels, four hundred strong, in the jurisdiction of Colon, have been committing depredations. They burnt several estates.

Col. Beutgazi, who left Puerto Padre with a regiment numbering 800 men, escorted a convoy to Los Tunas, and encountered the rebels twice. Severe fights ensued, but the results are unknown. Report says he reached Los Tunas.

Captain General De Rodas has arrived here from Matanzas.

A. J. Simmons, who had been confined six months at Puerto Principe, was released at the intercession of Consul General Plumb and left for New York on the steamship Missouri.

WASHINGTON, August 22.—Cuban advices to the 9th received in this city give the following statement of the political condition there:

The volunteers are exhibiting the purposes of their organization, that of seizing the Government of the Island of Cuba from Spain. Everywhere throughout the Island they are acting in concert, and now exercise the same control over De Rodas that expelled Dulce from his position. It is reported that a formidable organization of Spaniards in the interest of the Cespedes Government in every part of the Island has been exposed through the means of a spy. The object of this organization was to counteract that of the volunteers and strengthen the Cubans in the field in means necessary to carry on the contest. This they did, but the expose has driven hundreds into the Cuban army, and given them a moral and physical power that will be a terror to the Spanish troops and volunteers as organized on the island. It is reported De Rodas contemplates resigning and returning to Spain, believing that his longer continuance in his present position would detract from his well-earned reputation.

A special dispatch to the New York Herald, from Havana, August 19, via Key West, states that intelligence from Colona on Tuesday reports that 1,000 insurgents have appeared in the vicinity of Macuriges. But few troops are in the district and the Governor is unable to check the patriots, who are destroying all the property owned by Spaniards.

Another special from Nassau, N. P., August 13, via Key West, 21, gives the ruling of the Admiralty Court in the long contested case of the steamship Salvador, charged with a violation of the neutrality laws, that she was duly cleared according to port regulations and that the vessel be delivered up, each party to pay his own costs.

HAVANA, August 22.—Senor Cerilio Arredondo, Director of Savings Bank, left in the steamer Missouri for New York.

Thirty rebel prisoners arrived from the interior this afternoon.

FROM WEST INDIES.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HAVANA, Aug. 21.—Advices from St. Thomas to the 16th state the steamer Telegrafa was anchored at Tortola. The American steamer Seminole had sailed for Porto Rico.

News from St. Domingo to the 2d states that Cabral, with three thousand troops, was besieging Ahua.

News from Hayti to the 9th states that Salnave had retreated from Jacmel, but was continuing the siege at Aux-Cayes. A Dutch schooner, loaded with articles contraband of war, had been captured there.

Dispatches received from Caracas to the 9th state Gen. Monagas is in command of the troops besieging Maracaibo. The besiegers are aided by three Federal vessels. All the States of the Republic have sent troops and the merchants are generally in favor of the Federal forces. Gen. Pulgar is making great preparations to resist. The populace of Maracaibo are hostile to him.

CINCINNATI.

By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, August 21,—Several light showers last night and this afternoon were refreshing. The thermometer was 93 degrees in the shade at noon and 96 degrees at 3 P. M.

John Lyman, a boy seven years old, was crushed to death between two freight cars on the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Railroad.

The Southerns, of New Orleans, will play the Red Stockings to-morrow. For the game with the Haymakers, of Lansingburg, New York, with whom the Red Stockings play on Thursday, great preparations have been made. All the railroads except one leading to the city have made half fare arrangements.

Fourteen workmen in Eden Park have suffered from sun stroke since Thursday. Two of them died.

At six o'clock this evening a laborer, named Herman Henersdell, fell dead from excessive heat and drunkenness.

NOVA SCOTIA.

Banquet to the Governor General.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

HALIFAX, August 21.—The banquet to the Governor General last night was a grand affair. Sir John Young said he did not withdraw one word of his Quebec speech. It has been misrepresented. He had been represented as saying a change of allegiance would be possible. This was incorrect, and on that word trouble arose. He had spoken of a change of allegiance, thereby contemplating different relations with England, but the idea of severance never occurred to him.

Row and Murder in Baltimore.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, August 22.—A difficulty occurred this afternoon at a restaurant in the suburbs of the city between a party of men, in which Lewis Meltee was badly beaten by John Chambers. Meltee left the place and subsequently returned with his brother as a guest and friend, when the party assaulted Chambers. Lewis Meltee struck Chambers with a stone weighing ten pounds, crushing out his brains and causing instant death. All parties were arrested.

Towne, Esq., Assistant Superintendent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, has received the appointment of General Superintendent of the Central Pacific Railroad, at a salary of thirteen thousand dollars in gold. He takes with him several gentlemen connected with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad as subordinates. Mr. Towne is universally recognized as one of the most intelligent, efficient and capable railroad men in the West. Col. Hammond, the General Superintendent of the Union Pacific, was formerly Superintendent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, and Mr. Towne was one of his subordinates.

—A few days ago Pierre Lentocheau, a young Frenchman, was killed by a Chippewa Indian in Watab, Benton county, Minnesota. The young man in wrestling had thrown the Indian, and in revenge soon after, while engaged in a game of cards, the murderer took the opportunity when Pierre's head was bent forward, and came from behind and struck a downward blow with a large hunting knife, hitting Pierre on the front of the head, driving the knife to the handle in his brain and killing him instantly. The Indian made good his escape and is still at large. He is one of the parties that killed two lumbermen on Rum river in 1867 and was let off with a new blanket and gun for his punishment.

The Army Officers' Reunion on the Gettysburg Battle Field.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GETTYSBURG, Pa., August 22.—Only a few officers have as yet arrived, but to-morrow noon and evening two railroad trains from different directions will bring hither Major General Meade and staff, together with a number of other generals and subordinate officers, formerly attached to the army corps that participated in the battle. The number of Confederate Generals will be small, according to the present indications. The business engagements of Gen. R E. Lee will not, he says, permit him to be present. Visitors are constantly arriving. There will be a military escort to distinguished officers from the railroad station to their quarters. It is thought that the inspection of various points of the battle field will not be commenced until Tuesday, and this will occupy several days, thus affording opportunity to persons who have not already commenced their journey hitherward to reach here and participate in the proceedings.

Extensive Fire at Rochester, N. Y.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ROCHESTER, N. Y., August 22.—A destructive fire occurred in this city this afternoon at two o'clock. The old Rochester House block, on Exchange street, was totally destroyed. It was occupied by Luther Gordon & Co., as a planing mill, and by Whiting & Doty, sash makers. Nearly one million feet of pine lumber in the yard adjoining was destroyed. The loss to Gordon & Co., is $40,000, with an insurance of $5,000. Whiting & Doty's loss is $5,000; insured for $2,500. Lamberton & Mack, owners of the building, lose $5,000 and have no insurance. The fire was accidental.

Great Trot at Saratoga.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SARATOGA, August 22.—The trot between Commodore Vanderbilt's Mountain Boy and McMahon's Lady Thorn takes place on Monday at 12 o'clock. The track is in good order. Mountain Boy is said to have made one-quarter mile in thirty-four seconds while training recently.

The Louisville Bridge.

The Cincinnati Commercial learns that the Bridge Company are displaying unwonted energy in rushing forward their work. All the stone quarries, as well as saw mills, are exclusively engaged working material for the bridge. The bridge top and bastion is thronged with workmen, and the iron work on the long span from this side is being put up. Cribs are being built for the trestle work and the abutments over the Indiana side, and already has one huge crib encroached upon the channel of the Indiana chute, and by the first of next week the navigation of the falls will be effectually closed for navigable purposes. Nothing but a fish or a bird can pass the obstruction. General Weitzel, on behalf of the Government, is also busily engaged damming the falls, and with a large number of workmen is taking advantage of the low stage of water in making his huge wooden wing dam. As at present advised, the falls at Louisville will be wholly closed to navigation for two months to come. The canal is the only outlet for the balance of the year. In the meantime the Southern supply of coal must be exhausted, as none can go down from Pittsburgh excepting to double trip and reshipment through the canal.

Washington Items.

Among Postoffice changes are Morris Cross Roads, Fayette county—M. V. B. Scott, vice William Scott, Sr., resigned. Barnhart's Mills, Rutler county, Pa—Andrew Barnhart, vice S. Fleeger, removed.

Advices from a Radical source in Mississippi have been received here, indicating the nomination of A. G. Brown as the Democratic candidate for Governor, and the abandonment of the proposed Conservative movement, which was originated for the purpose of making Judge Lewis Dent Governor of the State. The reasons given for this important political change are, that the recent unqualified rejection of the Dent movement by the President and the probability that the Radicals will receive the support of the Administration have stripped the Conservatives of their anticipated power, and the people now propose to assume the old party lines of Democracy and Republicanism.

THE friends of Chief Justice Chase are open and loud mouthed in their assertion that they have assurances of support for him from the South for the next Presidential election. They say that the Conservative Republican movement in the South was organized for his benefit and the result of the Dent movment in Mississippi will in the end demonstrate the wisdom of their predictions. General F. T. Dent, known familiarly as the President's doorkeeper, publicly declares his willingness to wager his next year's salary that Judge Chase will be the next candidate of the Democracy for President, and his brother, Judge Dent, will be the next Governor of Mississippi.

THE Mauch Chunk Gazette, published at the home of Mr. Packer, says he is very unpopular there, even among his own party, and "from present appearances he will not carry half his party vote in the coal mines." His pettish conduct and niggardly want of liberality towards his own county and town, have alienated very many of our citizens who have known him longest and best."

VIRGINIA.—The last proposition is that both Gilmer (Walker), and Jenkins (Wells), shall resign, and some one else be selected as Chairman of the State Committee. This course, it is believed, would heal all differences, and make the Republican party of Virginia a unit in support of President Grant's administration.

"PACKER'S money," says a Delaware paper, "is all the theme of the discussion in Pennsylvania. The Democrats are delighted with their hopes of handling it, and the Republicans at the certainty of its being spent for nothing."

THE TWO WAYS.

'Twas Sabbath; and with clang on clang,
A deafening crash of church bells rang;
The day for penance and for dole—
For sackcloth and an ashen soul—
So had my childhood learned in fear.
And forth I fared, with mood severe,
Clad in my soberest and best,
With God's own world to keep his Rest.
Through orchard, field and wood I paced,
Rasping a dry thought, solemn faced.
But suddenly—"What is this?" I thought,
"Does Earth keep Sabbath as she ought?"
And looking round about, I sought
Some comrade with me, on my way,
In woeful weeds to drape the day.
—All nature given o'er to glee!
No psalms, no dirge, no minor key;
Each grass blade nodding to the rest,
As one who knows a hidden jest.
The thrush, still hurrying, loud and gay,
To find the lost thread of his lay;
And chasing, as he flies along,
The fleeing ripple of his song
The giddy blue-bird flits and sings—
A jot of azure sky on wings.
Down the tree-trunks the shadows trace
The tremble of their dancing lace:
The drifting apple-blossoms meek
Brush their white kisses by my cheek;
The bobolink bubbles o'er with glee
In tumbling, heady melody;
And from the cat-bird's hedge is sent
His quick, low chuckle of content.
In all that choral symphony
Of flower, and bird and waving tree,
And happy sky and laughing sun,
I found in holy woe not one.
—Save only, through the churchyard gloom,
Returning, at a new made tomb
A bitter mourner, black-arrayed,
Whom fools in robes had faithless made,
Wept the lost angel he had wed
As though her soul—and God—were dead.
Him only; and, as evening fell,
An owl, that sought some mate as well,
Was hooting from his hollow tree—
"Will none be doleful now with me,
Will none with me sad penance do?"
And still he hooted: "Who?—who, who?"

—A party of Frenchmen were discussing foreign customs, and one of them remarked upon the American habit of designating streets, not after celebrated men, noted battles, etc., but by numbers, as Seventeenth street, Fortieth street, etc. "Exactly," remarked one of the party. "And the Americans name their generals in the same way. We have just had here General Dix."

—If a few of our landlords would move to Ireland they might find it an unhealthy island. A Mr. Warburton recently raised the rents of his houses and lands, fifty per cent., and was shot in the face and breast with jagged slugs of lead by one of his tenants, who was not aware that as soon as a man becomes a landlord his ideas change, and become so buoyant as to rise to remarkable heights.

THE Illinois State entomologist, writing to a Rock Island paper, puts a "squelcher" on the dreadful tomato worm story which had been going the rounds of late, and creating a great commotion among anxious mothers and timid old maids. He says that the statement concerning a certain young lady having been stung to death by one of these worms is fabricated out of whole cloth. The horn in the tomato worm's tail is not a sting, neither can it penetrate the human flesh, and even if it did there is no poison bag attached to it, so that the result would be no more serious than a wound from a needle. The author of this story, saw the entomologist, might as well try make me believe that dogs had got a s on the tip of their tails, and that it certain death to meddle with Po caudal appendage. Every body that this is not so, because millions dogs' tails have been pulled without t tail stinging any body. There is just as good proof that tomato worms do not sting; for entomologists have handled millions of them without fear within the last hundred years, and no entomologist has yet been stung by them. The only insects that can really sting are bees, wasps, and certain ants; and even with these it is only the female that has a sting and a bag of poison attached to it. Musquitos and horse flies do not, properly speaking, sting, as it is with their mouths and not with their tails that they enter the flesh. Hereafter, therefore, let us cultivate our tomatoes in peace, and eat them in the same way.

The Infant of the Period.

It is "rumored on change" that the tribe of large-headed mammoth-eyed, intellectual infants who for many weary years have sustained a department in the back of Harper's Magazine, is rapidly passing away. To the magazine aforesaid, and to the numerous country editors long accustomed to adjusting scant columns with the standard anecdote about little Eddie who asked his mother if the clouds were not Mrs. "Dod's" washing, the extinction of that magazine-child will be a blow. What are young mothers to do for reading? What is the chaste weekly journal of Peoria to use for the paragraph absolutely requisite to conclude the column of "Moral Selections." What in the world will marriageable young ladies find to peruse aloud in papers after finishing the Marriages and Deaths? These are conundrums for the thoughtful, and our prize for the first correct answer is a paper of familiy sewing machine needles warranted not to cut in the eye. While the thoughtful are at work, however, we may again refer to the rapid disappearance of that order of infant which habitually attributed summer showers to angels crying, and the substitution in its place of the hard-headed, practical, business-like child. This latter babe of the period was a witness in an Ohio Court the other day, and was asked if it understood the obligation of an oath. "Yes, sir," it said: "It means I must tell the truth." This beautiful answer called tears to the eyes of every young mother present; the only audible swearer in the court-room being an old bachelor. "But," said the attorney for the other side, "why must you tell the truth?" To which responded the infant: "Because if I don't this case won't be won." From which tremendous tendency of babes and sucklings toward the indecently naked truth, we forsee a retrogration of the rising generation, from the florid ideality of the back of Harper's to the celebrated old-time veracious style of George Washington, who (it may not be generally known) did it with his little hatchet.—New York World.

The Hebrew Shochet or Butcher.

Among the Jews a broad distinction is made in articles of food, Count Teleki writes, and the greatest importance is attached to its observance. For instance, it is unlawful to eat the flesh of any beast that does not chew the cud and divide the hoof; hence, swine are expressly forbidden, the flesh of which is held in the greatest abhorrence, as we all know from the mild jokes that are made upon the subject by those not possessing such scruples. Al kinds of poultry are permitted to be eaten except those prohibited in Levictus xi, 13-25. Fish having fins and scales are articles of food; but all shellfish is strictly forbidden.

All cattle and poultry must be slaughtered by a Jew, according to prescribed rules; and as these rules are exceedingly numerous, the killer must be duly qualified for his profession. This killer is called shochet. His office is divided into departments—that for poultry and that of cattle. The candidate for this office has to be examined by their rabbis before receiving his diploma. The shochet kills in a different way from all other butchers. With a peculiar knife he cuts the windpipe of the animal about three-quarters through. No more than three cuts are to be made, and no fewer than two. Should he cut a little of the throat, then stop and cut again, and continues this till the beast is killed, the killing is irregular, and the meat is unlawful. Should the cutting be effected by pressure only, or the knife is used as a hatchet, the meat is unlawful. Should the knife be covered with a cloth or hidden by the wool of the animal during the slaughter, the meat is unlawful. As soon as the animal has done bleeding it is opened, the shochet examines the liver to see if they be healthy, after which he pronounces the meat to be kosher, or fit to eat; if the contrary, trephah, or unfit for use. The meat is then sealed and ready for sale. This plan of killing is adopted so that the blood may be entirely drained from the animal, as it is an article of Jewish faith not to eat the life of any creature.

SHODDY, it is asserted, is a word which, from its application to rotten blankets and tender clothing, has come to mean anything that is more showy than substantial, but the article itself, according to McCulloch's Commercial Dictionary, is one of the greatest triumphs of art and civilization. The manufacture of shoddy and mungo originated at Batley, Yorkshire, where there are now 50 rag machines in 35 mills, producing twelve million pounds of rag wool per annum, which is about one-third of the yearly production. Dewsbury, Yorkshire, is the head-quarters in England of the shoddy manufacture, though large quantities are now made in Germany. Shoddy is made of the wool of soft goods, such as stockings, flannels, &c., and mungo of the wool of hard goods. The old clothes and rags are torn to pieces by the aid of powerful machinery, and reduced to their original state of wool, which is respun sometimes with the addition of fresh wool. In the early days of this remanufacture, shoddy was used only for padding and similar purposes; but now, without the admixture of new wool, it is woven into blankets, carpets, druggets and table covers. Many of the much-admired and warm and serviceable English pilot and Petersham overcoats are made wholly from shoddy cloth. The beautiful table covers, printed in various patterns from wooden blocks, are generally made from shoddy, and the same material enters largely into other important manufactures, so that shoddy, it is contended, is by no means the contemptible cheat which many persons supposed it to be.

CUSHIONS in horse-cars and other public conveyances make very comfortable seats, but perhaps they are not as clean as safe as the cane and slat seats which coming into general use. We noticed other day the statement of a New Yorker that he had caught the small pox on the cushion of a horse-car; and now a correspondent of the Sun informs us that, having seen an old cushion pulled to pieces, he is deeply grieved, not to say horrified, at the entire arrangement. "Wherever the steampipes passed under the seats," he says, "there were long crusts in the cushions, composed of three different kinds of vermin, and containing millions on millions of them!" The subject is a painful one, and we drop it with intense disgust.

REV. DR. TODD, of Pittsfield, Massachusetts, has received a ring from one of the golden spikes used in laying the last rail of the Union Pacific Railroad. The ring bears the words "The Mountain Wedding," at which, it will be remembered, Dr. Todd was the officiating clergyman.

CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL
private diseases, Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial: he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea. Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P.M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, August 21, 1869.

The oil market has been very dull and stagnant during the entire week, and with a comparatively high volume of business in the aggregate, prices, compared with the earlier part of the week, have declined materially. New York it seems has turned bearish again, and as a consequence has been selling freely, in view of breaking the market, and thus far their efforts have been attended with considerable success; while on the other hand, Pittsburgh has been buying, as prices have got down so low that refiners can buy all the oil they want to cover their contracts at better figures than they can make it. Compared with last week, refined has declined materially, and crude also is weak and lower, though it is still ralatively higher than refined.

Receipts Crude this week, 11,722; last week, 11,234; from January 1st to date, 503,633; same time last year, 725,444; Exports Refined this week, 15,347; last week, 15,315; January 1st to date, 330,927; same time last year, 408,064. Sales this week, 55,200; last week, 63,500.

REFINED.

The market, compared with yesterday, was more active with a larger volume of business in the aggregate, and while the feeling was somewhat "bearish" yet prices remain substantially unchanged. Sales 1,000 spot at 31¾; and private dispatches report that this was offered for a cargo; 1,000 September to December at 32½; 1.000 do do, at 32¼; 1,000 do 32¼; and 500 do at same figure.

CRUDE.

Sales 1,000 bbls spot at 14¾; 1,000 seller 30 days at 14¾; 1,000 seller August at 14¾; 2,000 do at 14¾; and 3,000 do at $5,80 on cars at Venango City, which is about the same as 14¾ here. Seller all year, is nominal at 14@14½, and buyer at 16. While crude has declined a quarter within the past day or two. Refined is from ⅝ to ¾ lower.

RIVER NEWS.

The river remains stationary with twenty-one inches in the channel. Weather continues hot; mercury at 5 P. M. 100 in sun and 91 in shade.

—The Great Republic was detained forty-five hours at Cairo, making repairs to her machinery.

—Capt. John Shunk has assumed command of the Glasgow and Capt. Robinson has taken charge of the office.

—The Camelia, Pittsburgh to St. Louis arrived at Cincinnati on Thursday. She was a long time out from this port.

—The Cincinnati Gazette of Friday says: Capt. James M. Maratta, of the Emma No. 3, telegraphed from Paducah, yesterday, to have a barge sent to him to lighten the Emma over the bar coming up. There was no barge here to be obtained.

—Capt. Jno. Woodburn has contracted with Dumont for the machinery for the third packet he is building for the Memphis and Arkansas River Co. The machinery consists of three double-flued boilers, 28 inches in diameter, and 20 feet long. The cylinders will be 15 inches in diameter, with 5 feet length of stroke.

—The Jefferson Times, of recent date says: Capt. A. P. DuMay has built a steamboat for low water Jefferson and Shreveport trade, which only draws fifteen inches, and will carry two hundred bales of cotton. It is named the Lake City, and has been launched just below the city, and is awaiting its boilers which are daily expected.

—Says the Cincinnati Commercial: Joseph Rutledge, not Copper Joe, is one of the pilots of the towboat Jim Watson, now en-route here from Tennessee River with a tow of iron. Mr. Rutlege was on the Great Republic on her big trip from New Orleans to Cincinnati. He was also on the Jim Watson when she took the largest tow that ever went to Frankfort, Ky.

—Pat Kinney, a deck hand on the Lorena, who fell overboard from that boat near Shawneetown, and was reported drowned, rejoined the boat at Louisville. He fell between the boat and barge, and was struck by the wheel of the Lorena and badly bruised about the back, but managed to swim ashore, and got on board the Armada and came up to Evansville, and from thence by rail.

—A St. Louis telegram under date of Thursday says: Capt. Joe Kinney has bought the steamer War Eagle for a moderate sum. He will paint, repair and put her in the Miami trade in a few days. The Continental ran hard aground at Hat Island on her way out, and the Rubicon failed to move her after an hour's pulling. At last accounts a tow boat and barge at Grand Island had been sent for to lighten her. St. Paul papers mention an unusually high stage of water for the season, five feet large to Head Lake, and a full river below.

THE Reading Dispatch now issues a weekly as well as a daily issue. A journal so well edited merits entire success.

THEY THINK, in the District of Columbia, that the seat of the National Government cannot be changed except by an amendment to the Federal Constitution. Of course, they breathe easier.

THE remarks of Secretary FLETCHER, of Tennessee, on the question of repudiation of the new bonds of that State, have the right ring, and will prove wholesome reading to our Democratic Pendletonian friends.

THE London Times of the 18th declares that the latest Byron scandal, as detailed by an eminent American authoress, as "entirely without foundation and a base slander." Mrs. Stowe's first paper was a remarkable one, but her second, in which she will join issue with a world of critics, will be even more interesting.

AT THE instance of the business men of Erie, Mr Lynn, late of the Dispatch, has investigated the manufacture of iron in Montour county and the Lehigh Valley. His report shows that Erie has "the advantage of from six to ten dollars per ton in the cost of manufacture of mill and foundry iron, to say nothing of their superior advantages for handling and shipping." Now, it remains to be seen what Erie is going to do about it.

A FRENCH journal announces the successful production of a steel of good quality from a second-class iron at a single operation. The effect was produced in a reverberatory furnace, lasted about one hour and a half and was accomplished with as much facility as puddling. The process is not described, but is declared to admit of converting from three to five tons of metal, by only one operation, into steel ingots ready for the workshop, and with an unexpected economy.

CUBAN NEWS from Cuban sources is quite flattering for the Insurgents, and betokens an early establishment of independence by the saucy Island. Unfortunately, however, Cuban news from Spanish sources each day rivets tighter the chains, and makes the revolution nigh an end from sheer exhaustion. Which to believe we know not, but it is safe to say that intelligence from either side gets as far wide of the truth as possible, in order to befog the general reader and cause him to misdirect his sympathy.

WE POINT with very decided satisfaction to the great reduction made on the State debt since the induction of Gov. GEARY into office. But the work has not ended. In another column our readers will observe an advertisement of the State Sinking Fund Commissioners announcing that sealed bids will be received up to October 1st, 1869, for the redemption of ONE MILLION DOLLARS of the State loan yet to mature. Is this not flattering to the present administration of the affairs of the Commonwealth? Do the people want a change from the close economy and marked honesty which make conspicuous the present Administration, to the plundering policy and reckless extravagance in all departments of the State Government which will follow the election of Mr. PACKER as Governor?

THE recent meeting of the iron trade in this city had no other positive result than an agreement for a trifling advance in the card-rates for their product, with some special concessions to the Cleveland and Cincinnati dealers. The eastern trade of our iron masters was not touched upon—a matter of much importance, since Pittsburgh iron is at present competing successfully in the New York market. An adjourned meeting will be held at an early day, to dispose of other questions of an interesting character.

THE Cincinnati press is devoted of late to personal controversies, in which plain speaking characterizes all the parties. Fortunately, it is only printer's ink which is shed, or is likely to be, although the wordy warfare is terrible. For example, the editor of the Enquirer, having been denounced as "a pestiferous little orangeman" by his big neighbor of the Commercial, retorts by denouncing the latter by name as a liar and a coward. If everybody did not know that the quarrel will end where it has begun, in the newspapers, we should deem it our duty to suggest, as an indispensable condition of the duello, that the exact dimensions of the little man be chalked out on the expanded front of his antagonist, with the understanding that no shots hitting outside of that line should count. On that condition, the public are entirely willing that a meeting should take place—the sooner the better.

THE INTERNATIONAL AQUATIC CONTEST, between the Oxford crew, of England, and the Harvard, of America, which takes place this week, commences to excite considerable interest, and disguise it as we may a natural anxiety has taken possession of the public as to the result. Our prejudices are with the American boys, who have crossed the ocean, with true Yankee grit, to measure oars with the acknowledged champions of the world in aquatic matters. If they prove successful their praises will be sung all over the universe, for they will have accomplished a feat worth recording; but if they are unsuccessful, and are laid out cold by the tough and bottomed Britons, they will not be disgraced in any manner. The fear may well be entertained that they will not be accorded a fair race by our cousins, as the weight of prejudice against the plucky Jonathons, who have traveled so far out of their way to beard the acquatic John Bulls in their own waters, must be great, and it would be strange should no obstacle intervene to prevent a square and manly contest. The feeling in this country is manifesting itself in no generous manner, as is evidenced in the insulting caricatures of the Oxford crew which appear in our shop windows, and if our people so far forget proprieties, how can we expect more from our friends over the water, who partake of the immediate excitement of the occasion and tenaciously cling to the fortunes of their own athletes. We will rejoice, no matter which side may be victorious, provided good feeling may prevail and English hospitality and generosity may be in no wise violated, for international fellowship, even in sporting matters, is a desirable consequence expected to follow the Olympian contest so anxiously awaited.

THE Toledo and Wabash Railway has been consolidated with the Michigan Southern and Lake Shore lines, the entire combination now representing an aggregate capital of about ninety millions of dollars. This checkmates the Erie proposition for a broad-gauge connection from Akron to Toledo, and leaves to that company no access to Chicago, except by building a new line of quite three hundred miles in length. Thus practically shut out from the main western connections, the Erie seems to have transferred its strategy to the East, directing its attention to the control of the New England business.

The Lancaster Courier states that parties who are interested in a direct Southern railway connection for Eastern and Central Ohio, met, on the 6th, at Columbus. President Jewett, of the Little Miami road, "who was authorized to act for the Pennsylvania Railroad," was present. Mr. Jewett said:

"The Pennsylvania Central Railroad has had in contemplation for some time the forming of a junction with the Southern railroads at Maysville, Ky., and has determined to build a road having its southern terminus at that city, connecting at some point with the Pan Handle road. As to the line upon which the road will be located, that will be determined by circumstances. The point which we would desire as a terminus will be determined in a measure by a suit pending. If that is determined in our favor we will desire Lancaster as the terminus. If decided against us, other interests besides those of the Pennsylvania Road must be consulted, and the preferable point will be Newark or Columbus. In the selection of a line, length, practicability, facilities of the country to furnish local traffic and pecuniary assistance will be considered. We shall expect the communities through which the line passes to give the right of way, make the road bed and build the bridges, excepting the one across the Ohio River. The building of the Road is settled upon, and as soon as the people along a contemplated route secure subscriptions sufficient to assure the raising of the amount necessary, we will put a corps of Engineers on the line and come to a determination. This is in substance what I have stated to the other Committees, and as much as I feel authorized to assure you."

ANTHRACITE—THE FACTS.

The press, and especially the journals of New York and other Eastern cities, have devoted much attention of late, to the discussion of the anthracite coal question, as this has been presented to them by the strikes among the operatives and the high prices ruling in the markets for this indispensable fuel. The discussion has been very minute and extended, and would have been exhaustive, no doubt, except for one important reason—that not one of our Eastern cotemporaries has exhibited anything like a decent knowledge of the substantial facts upon which the merits of these questions must depend. This ignorance of the true case has been glaringly manifest with such journals as the N. Y. Tribune, since it has assumed to take a leading part in the discussion, and, apparently, the right of pronouncing, ex cathedra, a judgment upon the merits, in which a general public concurrence seemed to be regarded by its writers as a matter of course. Very nearly in the same degree, its neighbors, of the Post and the Times, have displayed the same want of acquaintance with the facts, with an equal readiness to deliver their opinions, in condemnation of what they have all been pleased to denounce as the reprehensible combinations of an odious monopoly, among the coal owners and carriers of Pennsylvania, to impose unreasonably low rates of wages upon their miners, and to maintain extortionate prices for the main fuel-supply of the seaboard States. It is fully time that these misrepresentations should be corrected, and that all the parties to the current controversy should be placed before the public in the exact positions which they really occupy, and which have been as ignorantly as odiously mis-stated by the journalists who have written—we know not whether more absurdly or recklessly—their daily columns upon columns of bosh upon this anthracite coal question. We now propose to enlighten them, and to apprise the general public of the main facts which are essential to a correct estimate of the merits of all the parties.

I. Sources of the Coal-Supply. The anthracite region lies wholly within the limits of Pennsylvania. Its product is mined and transported to market—and here we shall direct our statements to the New York and New England business, because those are the leading markets in importance—by seven lines of carriage, some of which are merely transportation companies, conveying the products of outside operators, while others of them own coal-lands, mining as well as transporting on their own account. Two of these avenues to market are through the Schuylkill valley, two by that of the Lehigh, and three of them by different routes from the Luzerne region. We specify:

1st. The Reading Railway, from Pottsville to Philadelphia. This is exclusively a transportation company; it owns no coal-land, buys no coal, mines none, but carries the traffic of every customer who offers, finding its profits in the sole business of transportation. This road is tapped by numerous side or branch roads throughout the upper Schuylkill valley, which have only a local importance and need not be enumerated here. The Reading delivers its coal on the Delaware at Richmond, a suburb of Philadelphia, whence it is shipped by water to all other ports.

2d. The Schuylkill Navigation Company, a water communication from the same valley. This is wholly a carrying-company: it neither owns, mines nor deals in coal on its own account.

The Reading, all rail, is in use throughout the year; the Navigation Company suspends, from necessity, all its business during the season of frost. The two companies are entirely distinct in interest, arrange their freight-tariffs independent of each other, with entirely diverse schedules, have never combined upon common rates, and, in the nature of things, never will attain such an agreement.

3rd. The Lehigh and Susquehanna Railway. This is the old Lehigh Navigation Company, which first owned a canal from Mauch Chunk to Easton, on the Delaware, but which has since constructed an independent railway, and makes use of both avenues. At Easton, it connects with the Delaware division of the old State Canal to Philadelphia, having a perpetual lease thereof, and by the Morris Canal, from Philipsburg, opposite Easton, to Newark Bay. This Company has a railway from Easton, up the right bank of the Lehigh to Mauch Chunk, and thence across the dividing ridge to Wilkesbarre, on the Susquehanna. Under its old charter, it had the right to own coal lands, and mine and deal in coal. But its profits come really from its transportation business, its own products being but a very small proportion of its entire carriage. At Easton, it connects with the New Jersey Central Railway, thus finding its way to tide at Communipaw.

4th. The Lehigh Valley Railway, from Easton up the left bank of the Lehigh to Mauch Chunk and over to Wilkesbarre. It is also now pushing up the old towpath of the North Branch Canal, seeking an outlet to Central and Western New York. The new line has reached Tunkhannock, beyond which its route is not yet settled, whether up the North Branch to Towanda and Waverley on the Erie road, or across the chord of the great bend of the Susquehanna, from Tunkhannock by way of Montrose to Binghamton. This is wholly a transportation company, owning, mining or dealing in no coal on its own account, although several of its leading managers operate largely in that way.

5th. The Delaware and Hudson Canal Company heads the list of the Luzerne corporations. It owns a railway from Wilkesbarre, by way of Scranton and Carbondale, to Honesdale, and the canal thence to the Hudson at Rondout. This is not a common-carrier of coal; the Company either mines or purchases all its coal-freight. We may mention that this Company has an all rail-route from Honesdale by Lackawaxen and the Erie to New York.

6th. The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railway. The Eastern Division of this road runs from Scranton to the Central New Jersey road below Easton. The Western Division extends from Scranton to Great Bend, thence on the Erie to Binghamton, where it strikes the Syracuse road, holding this under lease, and to Owego where it connects with Ithaca and the Cayuga Lake. This company also sends no coal to market but its own.

7th. The Pennsylvania Coal Company, from Pittston (above Wilkesbarre on the Susquehanna,) a railway by way of Dunmore to Hawley, there intersecting with the Delaware and Hudson Canal. Having the right to half the lockage thence to Rondout, it makes no use of the privilege, but has built a branch road from Hawley down to the mouth of the Lackawaxen, and thence by the Erie to tide at Piermont. This company also sends no coal to market but its own.. It is this corporation which the N. Y Tribune has absurdly confounded with the Pennsylvania Central Railroad in its recent articles.

To complete this list of coal-carriers from the anthracite region, we should add that the Pennsylvania Central Railroad has a coal-tonnage of about 500,000 per year, reaching it over its tributaries at Harrisburg and below, most of which goes to Philadelphia. The same Company carries also about 1,500,000 tons of bituminous coal over its line towards Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Of course its only coal-interest is in the freights.

II. No Corporate Combinations Possible. Four of these great companies are wholly in the railway interest, one of them depends solely on water carriage, and two of them own both canal and rail-lines. Three of them own no coal property whatever, and one of them has but a limited interest therein, while the other three look for their profits mainly to their operations in that article. It is plain that a permanent combination among all these corporations is quite out of the question, since—

1st. The transporting-lines have to depend upon their tolls as common-carriers, while the others rely mainly upon their merchandising operations.

2nd. Where the companies are mainly common carriers, their customers, the private-operators, are too numerous and of special interests too diverse, to admit of any satisfactory general arrrangement.

3d. The corporations having the advantage of water-carriage, are able to cut under the all-rail lines for two-thirds of the year, and cannot in reason be expected to make any combinations.

4th. The Luzerne and Lehigh Companies, having shorter and cheaper lines to New York, than those via Philadelphia, are always able to undersell their rivals.

5th. The heavy Luzerne companies, owning their own coal, have habitually made large monthly sales at auction in New York, persisting in thus forcing the market against the remonstrances of all the operators in the Schuylkill region. This practice is for the moment suspended, but will be resumed as soon as the miners resume work.

6th. The corporations which do an exclusively carrying business notoriously recognize a sliding-scale of charges, which sometimes runs even below actual cost. This scale is arranged according to the current prices of coal in the markets, rising or falling therewith. Its operation is to depress low prices still lower, and to enhance still more a rising market. Its object is to keep the business moving, the corporations usually succeeding in making, on the upward turns, enough to average their earnings fairly. This consideration alone is enough to forbid the idea of a combination with the coal-dealing corporations.

So much for the mistaken notion of the public, that the high prices are due to a conspiracy of the great corporate monopolies.

As a matter of fact, there has never been any understanding, or combination, or opening for one for the enhancement of prices between the merchandizing corporations and the private operators on the purely carrying lines.

III. The Relations of the Corporations to their Operatives—The public journals have a good deal to say about the "basis." Very few of them know what they are talking of. The miners propose certain conditions as the basis of an agreement with their employers. The New York Tribune seems to regard this basis as signifying that the miners demand a proportion of the profits of the business until it reaches second hands at tide-water. If that is what the miners ask for, they ought to have it. But that is not what they want. They claim one-fifth of all that the coal sells for at tide, but with the right to strike whenever that price sinks to $5. The latter condition is radically inadmissible by the employers, and equally damaging to the public. In effect, they propose to shut out foreign competition by impost duties, and to exclude domestic competition by combining among themselves. Here is the only place where monopoly comes in,—with the miners and not with the companies. Often, the miners demand a basis which they are unwilling to stand by; they now ask ten per cent. more than "the basis" calls for.

Again, the interests of the transportation companies, as common-carriers, lies in having not high but remunerative prices, with a demand steadily increasing with the natural progress of the country. This is a very good reason for their opposition to any such basis.

Anthracite coal deteriorates five per cent. in marketable value, every time it is handled,—the loss being in screenings. Hence the coal-owning corporations make their contracts early in the year with their customers, to run through the season, intending that these shall absorb the current deliveries at tide, without stocking the coal and the loss in re-handling. Early in '68, they bargained, in mid-winter, coal being low, for their total deliveries up to December. In June of that year came a strike, wages went up, the price of coal also, and the corporations lost heavily. Last winter, coal was again low; new contracts were again made to run through the year, followed by the present strike, and the companies are again forced to buy at higher rates to fill their engagements.

Of the three Luzerne companies, only one, the Pennsylvania Coal Company, is now sending coal to tide-water. When this strike began, that corporation agreed with its miners to go on, at wages equivalent to any basis which should be obtained by the Lehigh and Schuylkill Miners' Associations. A fortnight since, their men became restive; they had been paid $1,00 per ton on account, waiting for the end of the strike elsewhere to settle what the addition should be. But they had begun to despair of any addition. Whereupon, the Company agreed to give, beside the $1,00, ten cents additional for all July coal, twenty cents more for all August coal, and thirty cents more for the September product, conditioned that there shall be no more strikes. It is to be seen whether this arrangement or "basis" will hold the monopolists of the pick and shovel.

We are quite sure that the three Luzerne corporations will never accede to the "basis" which their operators are now claiming. They are prepared, rather, for a permanent stoppage of work for years. But they do advise their customers not to buy at present rates, and they further offer to contract with them at $7,50 per ton for January next. This indicates their faith in an early solution of existing difficulties, upon some friendly and satisfactory footing, and their desire to meet the public needs at the earliest moment which is compatible with their own profitable continuance in business.

In this connection, it is proper to remind that portion of the public which accredits these corporations with large and steady profits upon their operations, that none of them, prior to '61, were, in fact, maintaining a first-rate financial position. During, and for a year or two after the war, they made more money. But taking the whole period of their corporate existence, from the first up to this time, we are justified in observing that their average profits have not equalled ordinary bank dividends, or the remuneration usually expected in other large employments of capital. Persons familiar with the history of these companies will have no difficulty in assenting to this statement.

From this review of the whole field, it is clear that there are, and can be, no combinations among the employing and transporting corporations; that no monopoly exists, or can exist, for their control or restriction of the coal-supply of the country; that the interests of all the companies demand harmony, permanence, and a mutual satisfaction, in their dealings with the mining class; that it is this class alone which persists in refusing to be governed by the contingencies of the current trade, that the existing high rates for coal are not due to any mismanagement, or to any mischievous designs of the companies inimical to the interests of their consumers; that as between the corporations and the miners, the interests of the consumers lay directly in sustaining the former; and that, whatever direction Federal legislation may take, in the effort to apply some remedy to existing difficulties in the coal trade, that legislation will have the effect to go, straight through all intervening interests, down until it reaches, and that, too, decisively, the operative class whose monopolizing combinations are alone responsible for the present condition of the market. Raise or lower the tariff, take it off if you will, and the intelligent public can readily see whose pockets are to be affected thereby. It will do no harm to have this fact understood among all concerned.

RAILWAY DISASTERS.

For a considerable period the Erie Railway has sustained the bad pre-eminence of frequent and terrible disasters to trains. In popular estimation these catastrophes have been attributed either to the bad condition of the track, or to the worthlessness of the rolling stock, or to the incompetency of the management. All men who have had occasion to pass over the road have not failed to discover that the track was in excellent condition, and that the coaches were unsurpassed, if not unequalled in freshness, durability and comfort. The confession recently made by a man in custody in the jail of Pike, and which was published in these columns a few days ago, shows that three of the worst smash-ups on the Erie, including the appalling one at Car's Rock, were caused by that individual out of spite, and tends greatly to relieve the management of the road from censure.

Immediately following the Car's Rock tragedy the public journals heaped unmeasured vituperation on the Erie and its officers. The track was said to be worn out, and the servants of the Company grossly ignorant and careless. The revelation now before the public not only exonerates the managers of the Erie from the imputations cast upon them, but inculcates a lesson of caution in dealing with railway calamities generally.

What was done by a bad man, at Car's Rock, according to his own confession, may have been done by other bad men, on the same road, or on other roads. Indeed, from what has transpired, not only in the particular instance to which reference has been made, but in various other cases, it is probable that many of the unexplained railway disasters happened through no fault of the respective companies, but through the criminal interposition of men intent upon revenge or plunder. Hereafter, this cause must be taken into account in determining the origin of railway slaughters.

Pendleton and Vallandigham.

The acceptance of the Democratic nomination for Governor was a matter of life or death to George H. Pendleton. He would have been as dead as a salt mackerel if he had not accepted. He could not afford to regard his broken ankle or his personal comfort, if he proposed to be, in the politician's sense, a live man. There is another man who has a solemn hour at hand in which to choose his destiny. We refer to Mr. Vallandigham. If he remains in the wigwam during this campaign, he will be, on the second Tuesday of October, no matter how the votes may count out, a scalped savage. He has for a long time been accused by the staunchest Democrats of the State of cursedness and selfishness. He announced some time ago that he would not speak during this campaign, but he must reconsider that conclusion and reach another determination now. If he attends to his private business he will be called a sorehead. If he refuses to speak for Pendleton, he will be denounced as having a mean, personal spite towards Ohio's favorite son. He must become reconciled with Pendleton. He would, we are sure, receive Val. with courtesy and kindness, and creature comfort. Though all this might be as honey in the mouth of Val., it would be better in the belly, no doubt; but he must take his medicine like a man. The pill may be coated with elaborate sugar, but it must go down, or there will be no health in the patient.—Cincinnati Commercial, August 14.

DR. KEYSER'S BOWEL CUEE is one of the most valuable remedies ever discovered for all diseases incident to this season of the year. Hundreds of sufferers could be relieved in less than a day by a speedy resort to this most valuable medicine, particularly valuable, when the system is apt to become disordered by the two free use of unripe and crude vegetables.

Price 50 Cents. Sold at DR. KEYSER'S GREAT MEDICINE STORE, 167 Liberty St., and by all druggists.

LET US DISCUSS THE GREAT QUESTION.

What is the most important of all earthly blessings, in the estimation of every intelligent human being?

Clearly, it is HEALTH; for soundness of body and mind is essential to the enjoyment of all the other good gifts of Providence.

How, then, shall those who possess this inestimable treasure endeavor to preserve it, and how shall those who have lost it seek to relieve it?

These questions have been asked in all ages, but never have they been as satisfactorily responded to as at the present day, and the answers which common sense, enlightened by science and experience, gives to them in the Nineteenth Century may be briefly stated thus:

To protect the system against all influences that tend to generate disease, THERE IS NOTHING LIKE INVIGORATION.

To re-establish the health on a firm basis, when it has been lost by imprudence or any other cause, the system must be SIMULTANEOUSLY STRENGTHENED, REGULATED AND PURIFIED.

These ends can only be attained through the agency of a preparation which combines the attributes of a TONIC, a CORRECTIVE, a BLOOD DEPURENT, and an APERIENT.

All these essentials are effectually blended in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. They contain nothing drastic, irritating or inflammatory. The juices and extracts of sanative herbs, roots and barks are their sole medicinal ingredients, and these are rendered diffusible by combination with the spirituous essence of rye, the purest of all alcoholic stimulants.

The weak and feeble, and especially those suffering from biliousness, indigestion and nervousness, absolutely require the renovating aid of this powerful alterative during the heated term and cannot prudently postpone its use for a single day. A word to the wise is sufficient.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

☞ THE OTHER SIDE.—From the tone of certain articles which have appeared in the newspapers lately, the public may have been led to think the livery men of Pittsburgh and Allegheny have been practicing unjust and unwarranted extortion on them by charging five dollars per carriage to funerals in the city. At least that is the only item in the bill of prices adopted by the Livery Men's Association to which the gentlemanly proprietor of a Penn street stable takes exception in his self-elected championship of what he would lead the public to believe are their rights. That this rate for funerals is not exorbitant but simply fair and just, we propose to show. Previous to the war the rates for funerals were: to Allegheny and St. Mary's Cemeteries, $3 per carriage; to other nearer Cemeteries, $2 50. There was no increase in these prices until October '63, although all expenses incident to the business had increased three fold, and the advance to $5 at that time was simply self-protection, in view of the fact that hay had advanced from $12 per ton in '59, to $40 and $50 in '64; oats from 25 cents per bushel to 90 and 95 cents, and labor and all other expenses to at least double what they were in '59. This being a plain statement in the case the assertions of the Penn street reformer are simply false, and we are compelled to take this course to place ourselves right before the public. Below we append a statement of the cost of procuring and running a carriage for five years, as that is the average period of their fitness for stable service, which will speak for itself:

Cost of Carriage	$1,200 00
Pair of Horses	500 00
Harness	125 00
		1,825 00
Interest on the above amount at 8 per cent. per annum for 5 years		730 00
Wages of driver at $13 per week for five years		3,120 00
Stable rent, say $100 per year for five years		500 00
Shoeing horses $4 per month each for five years		240 00
Water Rent $12		60 00
Government Tax $10		50 00
Government License $1		5 00
Repairing Carriage, Harness, &c., $60 per year		300 00
Veterinary services, Gas, &c., $10		50 00
City License, $12 per year		60 00
City and County Taxes $10		50 00
		$9,727 00
We will say that the carriage will make one trip per day, and we are positive that this is more than the average amount of work done we have at $5 per trip, for five years		$9,625 50
Worth of carriage and horses at the end of five years, which is probably too high		500 00
		$9,125 00
Loss		102 50

In the above loss from death of stock, accidents, insurance, &c., is not included, but it is sufficient to prove that the work of a carriage, independent of other branches of the livery business, is a decided loss, and were they not a necessity in the business would not be kept at all. We commend the above to the careful consideration of Mr. Andrew Jackman, and hope he will be benefitted by the moral there set forth in figures. In conclusion we ask the above gentleman it seems to us passing strange that it has taken him from '59 to '63, until the present time to find out that $5 is too much for carriages to funerals, that the public are wronged thereby. Indeed, though against our will, we are compelled to doubt the purity of his motives, which, though not quite so plain as a church steeple, are sufficiently so as the result of a recent monetary transaction of his with a well known undertaker of Pittsburgh. Finally, we assure the public that we desire nothing more from our business than a fair and reasonable profit, and that the Liverymen's Association was not originated for the purpose of unjustly raising livery rates, and that all such imputations cast on us are false, unjust and slanderous.

ISAAC CHARLES.

Safety Fire Jacket, Car Heater and MODERATOR.

For Smoke and Hot Air Flues, dispensing with the use of stoves and fire in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached. Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket, which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended.

It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c. Wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired, I will send on application right to manufacture or use the above invention. Also Territorial rights to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges either by State or county.

WESTERN UNIVERSITY,

Ross and Diamond Streets,

Fall Term Opens September 2d.

There are Seven Departments—Collegiate, Scientific, Civil and Mechanical Engineering, Military Science, Commercial and Preparatory. In each, instruction is thorough and systematic. The Departments of Civil and Mechanical Engineering were organized last year, and have succeeded beyond all expectation. While the higher departments of the University are well provided for, special care is taken that Preparatory Students are supplied with the best instruction that can be employed. Past success warrants the assertion that students are afforded as good opportunities as can be had at home or abroad.

Call, for the present, from 9½ to 12 A. M., or send for a catalogue.

APPLE PARERS.—I have a full assortment of Apple Paring, Coring and Slicing Machines, which I invite all to call and see them tried. The PARING, CORING AND SLICING MACHINES, takes only three turns of the crank to pare, core, and slice an ordinary sized apple. It will pare without slicing or coring required.

Dried Apples sell much higher when sliced with this machine than when quartered by the old process.

Also, a full assortment of Lightning & Turn Table Apple Parers.

PACIFIC RAILWAY GOLD LOAN.

Messrs. BARNEY, MORGAN & CO., 53 Exchange Place, and M. K. JESUP & CO., 12 Pine Street, N. Y., offer for sale the Bonds of the Kansas Pacific Railway. These Bonds pay seven per cent. in Gold; have thirty years to run; are Free from Government Taxation; are secured by a Land Grant of Three Million Acres of the Finest Lands in Kansas and Colorado. In addition to this special grant the Company also owns Three Millions of Acres in Kansas, which are being rapidly sold to develop the country and improve the road. They are a first mortgage upon the extension of the road from Sheridan, Kansas, to Denver, Colorado. The road in operation NOW EARNS MORE THAN ENOUGH NET INCOME TO PAY THE INTEREST ON THE NEW LOAN. There is no better security in the market—this being in some respects better than Government Securities. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD. Price 96, and accrued Interest, in Currency. Pamphlets, Maps and Circulars furnished on application. au19

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, August 21, 1869.

The downward speculation in gold reached 131¼ at noon on Saturday, from which it recovered to 131⅞ to 132, The downward course of the premium is assisted by the large offers of influential parties who, having bought gold at high prices and being unable to effect an advance, now do all in their power to depress the premium as much as possible in order to buy for a rise, since the time is favorable for that, should the Government not sell largely. The amount of floating gold in the market is much reduced and for the two months of September and October it will cost little or noting to carry large gold balances without extra charges of interest, and should speculative sales remain uncovered, gold would command interest for loaning. For this and other reasons, concerning crop reports from England, a rise of several points in the next few days is more than probable

The depression in the gold premium has influenced a downward movement in Government bonds, and capitalists, seeing how little it takes to cause a reaction in the high priced currency value of our bonds, are holding back with investments for the present. Even if the policy of the Administration is to improve our depreciated currency by placing the currency market price of our securities on a par with gold, the past week has freely demonstrated that that objective point can be reached at a much lower point of the market value of bonds by reducing the gold premium at a favorable moment, and by publishing the amount of bonds to be purchased from week to week. If this policy had been pursued since July first, the government would have saved from 5 to 7 per cent. on the entire purchase of bonds, now amounting to 35 millions. The movement west and south, which is now beginning, will, most likely, cause a stringent money market during September and October, and a retrograde movement in bonds is almost a foregone conclusion.

Stocks are dull and heavy. New York stocks are taking the lead and the Western roads, for which a rising tendency was manifested a fortnight ago, follow in the same direction. The consolidation of several roads so far have not benefitted speculators as much as the New York and Fort Wayne roads. The game is understood, and too many having been attracted it does not pay any more for the originators.

In our local stock and bond markets matters look dull and devoid of interest. A few thousand bonds of any description will supply all the demand, and croakers care little to carry bonds at a moment when discounting will pay better.

Money commands from 8 to 10 per cent. for prime paper.

THE AMERICAN ARGONAUTS.

[From the Boston Post.]

Those who were familiar with Punch
Palmier days than now, when Jerrold Thackery aired their budding wit in olumns, happily ignorant of the time hit was to be sold for £7000 and ly got rid of at that, will recall with ght "Mr. Pips his Diary," and the tious illustrations by Richard Doyle accompanied it. Among these ap-rs a sketch entitled "A Prophet of ye mes its Regattr," which presents the ole affair to the eye in a space of only inches by seven. It is needless to that nothing is wanting to make it plete. On the shore is the Star Garter Inn. Before it is the husiastic crowd on foot and on horse-k, madly keeping up with the boats foreground, which the panting en are urging forward with every distortion and humorous exaggerawhole ending with the opinion of Wagstaffe, whom I met," "that Racing is a true British Pastime, d so long as we pull together he will k us against the World."

This is the scene of which our friends m Harvard are to form the nucleus in out a week, and wild as was the fancy
Mr. Doyle, we do not suppose he ever agined anything so strange or so auda-us. The English public, though at taken aback by the boldness and te-rity of the scheme, are now becoming ed to it. Their first instinct was that hospitality, and our friends were red with an effusion that left nothing desired. Since their arrival, howe notice that the English press are e disposed to withdraw their first mendation and criticise more rigidly.
now appear to be letting down their ican relatives, though tenderly and ct one journal, the Field, appears to about touched bottom, as it offers opinion that "the Harvard crew rs to us to be ignorant of elemental principles of rowing."

is coupled with the advice to obtain ver trainer and go through a course

r their numerous defects. We hope will do no such thing, and they will f they have any regard for the dicof sound judgment or the opinions eir friends at home. We trust they not so far yield to the enemy as to he victory be thoroughly American, one at all. They have done too already in ordering an English

, and patriotism itself should pre-them from becoming indebted for victory to an English "coach," or y other source than their own mus-and their own skill, which have ed them so well hitherto.

t our Harvard crew look to the last deof Yale and profit by their example.
Yale men were thoroughly coached.
osh Ward, and underwent a train ng quenched all their independence and them inefficient machines, instead anly and self-reliant oarsmen work-according to their own rules and ions. We supposed that the Harvard went to England as the representa-of the American style of rowing, expected to carry the day by their skill, if at all. Certainly they should attempt it in the armor of the enemy.
y should not give their rivals an op-unity of saying that the Yankees sed the ocean, seized the weapons of enemy for want of better ones of own, and so carried their point.
etofore Harvard has beaten Yale with-any aid from without. They have d, so far as their training was con-ed, upon the traditions and preces of the past, which have been led down from Palinurus to Palinu-—"Dark oracles, but understood and ed for truths of old." Let them g to these now, and bring back erican laurels, or none at all. The y instruction they need is such as familiarize them with the tortuous nel of the Thames. Even in this ect those of the crew that know shington and Court streets will need e teaching.

We have bespoken a victory for our ng friends who have gone so far to it. We have not quite so many s to go upon here as if we were in gland and saw them at their daily ex-se, but from such as we have we e reasoned out a complete triumph, ky in Harvard to pursue so powerful enemy into his very camp; and so it prove it our men are defeated, but if carry the day this opinion will be

A NICE SCENE occurred in Westmin-multidude would not be kept out, and ile the Archbishop of Canterbury was ding the service, the eager congrega-

Rough and Tumble Fight.

The Petersburg, Va., papers of Saturday contain accounts of a rough and tumble fight between James H. Platt, the newly elected Congressman, from the Second District of Virginia, and Joseph S. Budd, a lawyer. The trouble commenced in the Mayor's Court, where Platt told Budd to "shut up his mouth." Budd followed Platt to his office, and asked an explanation. The Petersburg Index tells the rest of the story: Mr. Platt asked Mr. Budd to walk up stairs to his office, and talk the matter over.

When they had entered the office, Mr. Platt asked Mr. Budd what he had against him.

Mr. Budd answered: "You insulted me, sir, in telling me to 'shut my mouth,' while in the Mayor's Court this morning."

Mr. Platt responded that he would do so again under like circumstances.

Mr. Budd responded that if he did, he would beat him for it.

After some further conversation, Mr. Platt proposed to settle the difficulty at once by a fight in his office, saying to Mr. Budd, "I have no arms, sir, and presume you have none." Mr. Budd promptly acceded to the proposal, informing Mr Platt that he was not armed. Words ensued, during which Mr. Platt used the epithet "scoundrel" towards Mr. Budd, when the latter advanced upon him. Platt seized a chair and raised it to strike Mr. Budd. The latter seized the chair, threw it aside, and planted a blow with his clenched fist over one of Platt's eyes, leaving the mark thereof visible. The chair was cast aside and the two combatants closed. Platt being the larger and stronger, throwing Mr. Budd to the floor. Mr. Budd, however, held Mr. Platt's head in a very close and firm embrace, and, though underneath in the struggle, evidently possessed an advantage in this fact. Platt probably either knew or felt this—for he was heard to cry out one or more times, appealingly: "Don't bite me! don't bite me!" As Mr. Budd had no intention of tasting his blood, he did not "bite" Mr. Platt. In a few moments Mr. Budd turned his antagonist, and held him prostrate upon the floor. Then Mr. Platt loosed his hold, threw out his arms, and cried for "water!"

And water was kindly furnished him.

When in the midst of a hot personal conflict the party having the disadvantage can stop to take water, the other, we presume, can magnanimously afford to gratify him. So, when Mr, Platt threw up his arms and appealed for "water," Mr. Budd released him, arose, took the water that was brought and handed it to the fallen Congressman. After this Mr. Budd turned to leave the office, when Mr. Platt on his feet and partially revived, called him back, saying: "We'll have another round." Mr. Budd came back and waited Mr. Platt's pleasure—promenading the office floor, while he was washing the blood from his face. No further encounter ensued, however, Mr. Platt settling the matter by saying he would have Mr. Budd before the Mayor for this "unprovoked assault" upon him in his office. The parties, after exchanging a few words, parted, expressing mutual satisfaction.

Poisoned by Hair Dye.

[From the Davenport (Iowa) Gazette, Aug. 17.]

Shortly after the death of Dr. J. M. Witherwax, which occurred on the 15th of last June, the Scott County Medical Society appointed a committee to investigate the causes which led to his death, it having been the opinion of several medical gentlemen that he died from the effects of lead poison.

The committee have prepared their report, in which they unanimously concur in the opinion that the cause of Dr. Witherwax's death was rightly surmised, and that the poison was introduced into the system through the use of hair dressing or dye. For four years previous to his demise, Dr. Witherwax had used the dressing almost daily on his hair and whiskers, and frequently during the whole period suffered from pains which were similar to those produced by lead colic.

In the report, Dr. Baker, as Chairman, cites many instances given in prominent medical works and journals, in which individuals have died from diseases produced by use of hair dies, in which symptoms very similar to those manifested in the case of Dr. W. were be rayed. Furthermore it is established that congestion of the brain is not unfrequently produced by these dyes.

It is stated that all the numerous hair dyes in use, except one, contain lead. The one exception contains nitrate of silver, instead of lead, and that, while it does not poison the system, crisps and dries the hair—to its injury, of course.

The lead used on the hair is absorbed by the skin, and thence conveyed to the different organs in the body, and effects its work of destruction by poison. The magic combs, which are warranted to turn gray hair black, are made of lead, and Dr. Baker cites an instance of the death from lead poison of an individual who used them.

The Latest Railway Consolidation.

Of the movement in progress to consolidate the Michigan Southern and Lake Shore Railway Company with the Toledo, Wabash and Western Railroad Company, we have learned the following particulars: That it is proposed to lease the Wabash road to the Michigan Southern in perpetuity; that the latter company is to guaranty the former three per cent. semi-annual dividend on its stock for the first year; three and a half per cent. semi-annually for the second year; four per cent. semi-annually for the third year, and that after the fourth year the dividends on both stocks are to be of the same amount. We understand that the preliminary agreement to this effect between the committees of the two companies has already been signed; and further, that the board of directors of the Michigan Southern and Lake Shore is to-day in session considering the propriety of accepting or rejecting the above terms. The chief object the Michigan Southern and Lake Shore would have in making the lease would be to prevent the construction of the proposed new road from Toledo to Akron, which would be run nearly parallel with the Michigan Southern.

THE New York World fills two columns in trying to prove from Pendleton's record that he is opposed to an irredeemable paper currency. This is a very wholesome sign, as showing that the Democracy are afraid to stand on the original Pendletonian theory.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the livor and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. mv19:151-d&F

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

THE GAZETTE is furnished in the city the six days of the week for 15 cents per week; by mail, $8 per annum: 3 mos., $2.

Our Allegheny Subscribers.

Some complaints having reached us from Allegheny City of the non-delivery, or late delivery of the GAZETTE, we have to say that our arrangements are for the delivery of the paper to all our Allegheny subscribers at from 5 to 7 o'clock A. M. If any fail of delivery or are not dropped before 7 o'clock A. M., we will thank the subscribers to leave notice of the delinquency at the office, in order that the evil may be remedied.

Allegheny Councils will meet next Thursday night.

Masterly inactivity ruled at the Allegheny Mayor's office yesterday. Two prisoners only disturbed the quietude of affairs in the afternoon.

We bespeak the attention of our readers to an interesting communication from Mr. Isaac Charles on the subject of the controversy among the livery stable men.

A number of the Methodist Episcopal Churches in the vicinity were closed yesterday. Camp meetings attracted a majority of the worshippers away from the city.

The Allegheny Park is increasing in popularity. The people seem to enjoy it immensely. Last evening it was crowded with a dense throng of happy promenaders.

Insane.—Catharine Boyle, an insane woman, was arrested on the streets Saturday evening and taken to the watch-house. She will probably be sent to Dixmont this morning.

Committed.—Saturday afternoon Nicholes Zeve was committed to the county jail, by Justice Berry, of McKeesport, for committing an assault and battery on his wife Elizabeth.

Made Threats.—Mary McCann alleged before Alderman Butler, on Saturday, that Patrick Conway had made threats which caused her to fear bodily harm. A warrant was issued for Patrick's arrest.

Mayor's Court.—There were twenty-eight cases heard at the Mayor's morning court yesterday. The usual proportion of the victims were sent to the "hill," and from there transferred to "Claremont."

At Last.—The important question has at last been partially settled, and one of the Diamond squares, Allegheny, that on which City Hall now stands, is to be enclosed by a fence. Other improvements are in contemplation.

Sudden Death.—Coroner Clawson yesterday received notice that Mrs. Bloomer, residing near Bennett station, on the Western Pennsylvania Railroad, had died suddenly and requesting him to hold an inquest on the body. We could not learn the cause of her death.

Another Victim.—Thomas Smith made information before Alderman McMasters Saturday against Jas. McCollister for keeping an open house and selling liquor on Sunday. McCollister is proprietor of a hotel on Pasture Lane, Second ward, Allegheny. Warrant issued.

Base Ball.—The game between the Atlantic and Olympic base ball clubs, for the championship of Western Pennsylvania, which was announced to come off at Union Park, Allegheny, Saturday afternoon, had to be postponed until next Saturday, on an account of the rain.

Resulted Fatally.—Mr. Icely and Dr. Lazert, the men who were injured by the vicious bullock in West Newton, Friday morning, have both died from the effects of the injuries received. Mr. Icely survived but a few hours after receiving the injuries and Dr. Lazert died Saturday morning.

Business Change.—The extensive and popular bell and brass foundry firm of Jno. M. Cooper & Co. has been dissolved by mutual consent, Mr. Cooper retiring. The business in all its details, as will be noticed by advertisement elsewhere, will be conducted as heretofore by the remaining partner, Mr. Henry Bier. Office and works corner Thirtieth and Pike streets.

We have received the catalogue for 1868 9 of the "Beaver Ladies' Seminary," of which D. H. H. M'Lean is Principal, assisted by a corps of accomplished teachers. We infer from our knowledge of the energy and varied abilities of the Reverend Principal and from the large list of pupils that the institution is in a prosperous condition, and should be regarded as one of the best and most useful in the country.

Gettysburg Reunion.—Those who have received invitations from Gov. Geary, as President, or Mr. D. S. McConaghy, as Secretary of the Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Association, for the historical reunion to-morrow, will procure free passes thereon over the Pennsylvania Railroad by applying to Mr. J. McC. Creighton, Superintendent. The invitation circular will serve as a pass over the connecting roads.

Alleged False Pretense.—Information was made before Alderman Donaldson, on Saturday morning, by Robert Kidd against John Sleach for false pretense. Kidd alleges he purchased a horse of Sleach for one hundred dollars, paying ten dollars down to secure the bargain. The horse, he alleges, was represented to be sound in every respect, but when he attempted to put him to work he found it entirely worthless. Sleach resides in Beaver county and a warrant for his arrest was issued.

Foiled.—A thief was foiled in an attempt to rob the Indian Herb Doctor's office on Cedar avenue, Allegheny, on Friday night. He had gained admittance to the cellar, but in doing so awakened a boy sleeping in the office, who quietly went out the front door and secured the services of officers Campbell and Jones. They proceeded to examine the front cellar first, but while so engaged, the thief slipped away from them by making his exit through a window in the rear. The affair occurred about eleven o'clock.

At the Elevator.—An attempt was made Saturday night about eleven o'clock by J. H. Young and a man by the name of Scott, to "go through" a stranger whom they found in the vicinity of the Elevator in a state of intoxication. The fellow was sober enough, however, to understand their designs and frustrate them by calling for the police, two of whom arrived in time to arrest Young and his companion. They were conducted to the lock-up where they remained until yesterday morning when after a hearing Young was committed for thirty days and Scott for ten days.

LOVE AND LAW SUITS.

A Clandestine Marriage—The Bride Returns to Her Parents—The Husband Brings the Matter into Court—Statements of the Parties—The Case Dismissed—Other Suits Pending.

A case of unusual interest was brought before Judge Mellon, in the Court of Common Pleas, on Saturday, on a writ of habeas Corpus issued on the day previous on the petition of Adam Fuhs, directed to Nicholas Schwartz, of which the following is a copy:

The petition of Adam Fuhs respectfully showeth that his wife Julia is restrained of her liberty by N. Schwartz, illegally and wrongfully, for no criminal or supposed criminal matter. He therefore prays your honor to grant a writ of habeas corpus, directed to the said N. Schwartz, commanding him to bring before your honor the body of his said wife, Julia, to do as, and abide by, such orders as your honor may direct.

Mr. Fuhs in support of the petition states: that he is a resident of the Third ward and alleges that about two years since, he made the acquaintance of Julia Schwartz, daughter of the respondent, residing on Wylie street. The young lady was at that time at the interesting age of sixteen, pretty and agreeable. The acquaintance grew into an intimacy, which in time ripend into love, and his intentions being honorable and with a view to matrimony, he proposed and was accepted by the young lady. The parents of the fair damsel were then consulted and declined to give their consent to the arrangements made by the young folks.

On the evening of the fifth of August, he states, the young lady consented to a clandestine marriage and they accordingly proceeded to the residence of Rev. Carl Weitershausen in Allegheny, and were joined in the bonds of matrimony. The bride returned the same evening, and next morning informed her father of the event that had transpired. He showed a disposition to be wrathy, and when Fuhs called on him for his consent, was indignant, flatly reftsing it, or anything in the shape of a compromise.

The petition was presented by R. Pallock, Esq., attorney for the petitioner, and a rule was issued and made returnable on the following day, at which time the respondent appeared accompanied by his daughter, and when the case was called, John S. Lambie, attorney for respondent, made answer in substance as follows: He denied that he restrains his daughter, Julia Schwartz, of her liberty, and alleges that he is prepared to prove that his daughter is perfectly free to follow her own inclination in living with Fuhs, if she so desires. Respondent also avers that he has been informed, and believes, that the marriage which is said to have been celebrated between his daughter and Fuhs was procured by fraud and threats on the part of Fuhs, and without the full and free consent of his daughter, as it was certainly without the consent of the respondent; that Julia remained at his house nearly one week before he became aware of the fact that it had been celebrated; that on the evening of the alleged marriage Julia returned home, and has remained there, without any inclination or desire to leave, and that she is now at perfect liberty to do as she may wish in the premises.

In support of the answer, the following affidavit was presented and read:

"Personally appeared before me, Jacob H. Walter, Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas, of Allegheny county, Julia Schwartz, who, being sworn, deposes and saith that she is the daughter of Nicholas Schwartz, of the city of Pittsburgh; that her age is eighteen years and six months; that on or about the 5th day of August, 1869, Adam Fuhs waylaid this deponent, and with threats and menaces induced her to go with him to the house of Rev. Weitershausen, and there marry him; that on the evening in question Frederick Oxenhardt was in company with said Fuhs when he waylaid this affiant; that this was about eight o'clock in the evening, when she was going to visit afriend. Affiant says that Fuhs, on one occasion, threatened to shoot her if she did not marry him; that affiant had frequently refused to marry the said Fuhs, and would not have done so but for the threats of said Fuhs and the persuasions of said Oxenhardt. Affiant further says that it is not true, as alleged by said Fuhs in his petition for habeas corpus, that she is restrained of her liberty by her father, Nicholas Schwartz, but on the contrary she has no wish or desire to live with the said Fuhs, and that she remains at her father's house of her own free will and accord. Affiant says that her father has frequently said to her that if she desired to live with the said Fuhs that she had his permission to do so, but that she had not desired, nor does she now desire, to avail herself of that permission."

The Court ordered the writ to be dismissed at the cost of the petitioner.

This, it appears, is not the end of the matter, as we learn that an action has been instituted against the clergyman who performed the ceremony for marrying the girl, who was only eighteen years of age, without the consent of her parents. It is further stated that Mr. Fuhs has instituted an action for slander or "words spoken," against the mother of his unwilling bride, and from present indications there will be an application for divorce. Verily the course of true love did not run smooth in Mr. Fuhs' case.

Peculiar Desire.

The Penitentiary, by most people, is considered rather an unpleasant residence, but one person at least, Thomas Flatley, if certain statements are true, has a different opinion of this retired place of abode. Indeed, he is said to have expressed a wish to be consigned to the hospitable care of the Warden of that large mansion. The wish was expressed under the following circumstances: Thomas is employed at McKeown's livery stable, on Grant street. Saturday afternoon he and another employe, Thomas Quinlon, had a little disagreement, when, it is stated, Flatley drew a revolver, and, pointing it at Quinlon, pleasantly informed that trembling individual of his intention never to rest satisfied until he had served a year in the Penitentiary for wounding him. Quinlon alleges he only saved himself by disappearing with celerity from the scene. Second thought convinced him that something should be done to prevent Flatley from carrying out his designs, and with this end in view he preferred informations for felonious assault and battery and surety of the peace against him before Alderman McMasters. Quinlon was arrested and is now reposing in jail, perhaps getting a foretaste of what life in the Penitentiary would be.

Recovered.—In January last a watch was stolen from a Mr. Richardson, residing on West street, Allegheny, of which a description was given to the police. Saturday the watch was discovered in the possession of Reuben Deuteronomy Newman, a colored man, who was arrested, but he established his innocence of the larceny by proving that he came by the watch honorably. It is supposed to have been stolen by a servant girl formerly in the employ of Mr. Richardson.

AQUATIC.

Races Past and to Come.

The fair and honest race between Jimmy Hamill and Harry Coulter, two of the best "scullers" in the United States, which took place on Thursday of last week, has had a very salutary effect on boat racing, having a decided tendency to bring the sport into general favor with our citizens, who a few weeks since were heartily disgusted with it.

Saturday evening between the hours of four and five o'clock, a single scull race of three miles, for a purse of one hundred dollars, took place over the lower Monongahela course between William Haley and Henry Best. The hour originally appointed for starting was three o'clock, but in consequence of the heavy rain which fell about that time the race was postponed until half past four. Notwithstanding the rain, a large crowd assembled on the Monongahela suspension bridge, the starting point at three o'clock, and many of them remained not knowing of the postponement, until the race came off. The race, so far as we could ascertain, was fair, and "the best" man won. Mr. John W. Carle, who had been chosen referee by the parties, decided the race in favor of Best; time 22:23. Haley's time was 22:53.

Best has received a challenge from Nicholas Denmarsh, of the McKee Boat Club, for a three mile race over the lower course, for a purse of $100 a side, the first deposit of $10 having been placed in the hands of the editor of the Sunday Leader, which challenge he has accepted. The parties will meet at two o'clock this afternoon, at the Sheridan Hotel, to complete arrangements.

A SHORT RACE.

A race has been arranged and articles of agreement signed between Alfred Hatfield and George McKeever, of this city, for a race from the Monongahela Suspension Bridge to the Point and return, for a purse of $50, to take place on the 28th inst., if the weather is fair.

KAYE VS. LUTHER.

Saturday evening last the preliminaries for a race, including the signing of articles of agreement, were arranged between Joseph Kaye, Jr., and Patrick Luther, for a three mile race over the Allegheny course, from the St. Clair street beidge one mile and a half up and return, for a purse of $300. The race will take place on Saturday, September 4th.

These are all the local races we have heard of except the "Oilmen's Regatta," which is continued from day to day on the Allegheny, from the St. Clair street to the Hand street bridge, and will continue until the course is impeded by ice, provided the rowers' hands will stand the heavy work and the oil business keeps reasonably dull.

M'KIEL TS. HAMILL.

A race between Hamill and McKiel was talked of, but if Jimmy, as is stated, has retired from the use of the "spruces," it will not take place.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Coulter, we learn, will next make a dash at Walter Brown for the championship, which was arrested from him by that worthy at their last trial, but as Walter will have his hands full for some time to come with the English champion, Renforth, Coulter will hardly succeed in having a tilt with him this summer.

A Lively Race.

Friday afternoon about two o'clock, when the mercury stood at 90 degrees in the shade, and about twelve degrees higher in the sun, while Warden Scandrett was sitting in the jail office stripped of his coat, hat and boots and his feet encased in a pair of old slippers, quietly enjoying a snooze, he was awakened by some member of his household and informed that a female prisoner, who had been employed in his private kitchen (we don't know whether she was under the rules and regulations of the Work House or not) had taken her departure. Having no one at hand to send after the escaped prisoner, the Warden much against his inclinations started in pursuit. The prisoner, it appeared had been for some days employed in the kitchen and seeing an opportunity to escape, quietly walked out of the jail to the street, and when the Warden was notified of the fact she had several hundred yards start of him. She passed out Fifth avenue to Federal street, and was proceeding up Federal street when the Warden, blowing like a porpoise, from his lively run, came up with her and conducted her back to jail. She was locked up and a more trusty one detailed for kitchen service, we persume.

—Friday night six prisoners made an attempt to escape, by cutting through the cell wall, and had succeeded in cutting through one wall and a few minutes work would have put them through the other. The noise they made attracted the attention of the watchman, and the attempt was frustrated by their own recklessness.

Rescued from His Friends.

Felix Teirnan, a stranger hailing from Duncansville, this State, arrived in the city Saturday afternoon, and during the evening succeeded in "taking on" an overload of whiskey. He had on his person about four hundred and twenty dollars, a fact which was ascertained by a party of rough customers who were hanging round him. Two of the Mayor's police found him in the vicinity of Williams' saloon, on Liberty street, surrounded by a party of suspicious characters who were trying to persuade him to drink, and protesting the strongest friendship for him. The officers thought it best to save him from his friends and took him to the lock up, where he remained until yesterday morning, when he paid $4.90 for his night's lodging and departed with the remainder of his money.

Uneasy.

In the Court of Common Pleas, on Saturday, Judge Mellon presiding, S. D. Rothermel, Esq., attorney for William Clayton and John Griffin, presented the petition of these gentlemen, who are bondsmen for Alderman Lynch, asking that he be required to give them good and sufficient security to indemnify them from loss, because of their position as sureties on an indemnifying bond. The petitioners set forth that the said Alderman is unfit to attend to the duties of his office, and that their responsibility is accordingly increased. An order was made by the Court that Alderman Lynch be notified of the petition, and directed to answer the same on the 28th inst.

Latest.—The Kemp-Alexander festivities in Crawford street have not yet been settled. They were again brought to the attention of Alderman Butler on Saturday by Mrs. Kemp, who made information against Mrs. Alexander for disorderly conduct, consisting in the use of sundry expressions rather uncomplimentary to the Kemp character, and assault and battery, based on the action of the Alexander branch, in abusing a Kemp representative of diminutive proportions and tender years. The Alexander has not been called to account yet, but will as soon as the officer can secure her.

More Work for the Gallows.

Dr. Schœppe, convicted at Carlisle, of the murder of Miss Steinnecke, by the administration of poison while attending her in the capacity of a physician, has been refused a new trial. On Friday he was brought into court, and the sentence of death pronounced upon him.

Adam Titus, who recently plead guilty to the charge of murdering Henry Stahm, near Shippensburg, has received the sentence prescribed by law. On Saturday last he was brought into the Cumberland county court, where; after delivering a lengthy opinion, Judge Graham addressed the prisoner as follows:

"You have been indicted for the murder of Henry Stahm; when arraigned you plead guilty, and the law then required the Court, by examination of witnesses, to determine whether you are guilty of the crime of murder of the first or second degree.

"For the reasons just stated we have adjudged you guilty of murder of the first degree. By the laws of Pennsylvania the punishment of willful and deliberate murder is death, and you must pay the penalty of your crime by the forfeit of your life. We will not lacerate your feelings by any comment on the circumstances and enormity of your crime. You are a man of sufficient intelligence and education to feel and understand your present situation. Your days on earth will soon be numbered. You will soon exchange the things of time for the untried realities of an endless eternity, and we admonish you to spend the days which may yet remain to you in this world in preparation to meet your God in judgment.

"It is now our duty to pronounce the sentence of the law, which is:

"That you, Adam Titus, be taken hence by the Sheriff of Cumberland county to the jail of said county, from whence you came, and from thence to the place of execution, within the walls of said jail, and that you be there hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may God have mercy on your soul."

The prisoner then made a few rambling remarks in which he said that the Great Judge of all was acquainted with the circumstances of his deed, and he believed that he had made his peace with Him; that his mother-in-law, Mrs. Fry, had testified falsely against him in saying that he had taken Stahm's money; and that the quarrel between him and his friend, which resulted in Stahm's being killed, was due to his mother-in-law's conduct and his wife's infidelity. He concluded by saying that when his mind was more composed he would write out his thoughts. He was then taken back to the jail to await the day of his execution, which will be appointed by Gov. Geary.

Serious Charge.

Catharine Nightengale made information before Mayor Drum Saturday, against Henry Nightengale for bigamy. She in substance stated that Nightengale had married her in England, where they had lived happily together for several years. He then immigrated to America, alone, but corresponded with his family and sent frequent remittances. These tokens of his affection finally ceased coming, and Catharine, after waiting a reasonable length of time, and earning by her toil, enough to make the trip, came over, and after diligent search and considerable traveling to different towns at last heard of him at Pittsburgh. This news was accompanied by another rather unpleasant peice of information, to the effect that he had again married and was the father of three children by his second marriage. She had not seen him for several years. Upon her arrival here, she made the information as stated. Subsequently, the two wives had an interview, when both seemed to agree in desiring the punishment of the delinquent. A warrant was issued but he has not yet been secured.

The Lake House, Stoneboro, Pa.

This delightful place of summer resort on the Jamestown and Franklin Railway, fronting the most beautiful lakelet in America, and surrounded by rich mineral springs of high medicinal qualities, has changed management, Mr. Edward Dolan, a host of liberal experience and generous ideas, having assumed charge. It is now open for guests, and we do not know any place more enticing for escaping the heat and dust of the city. Billiard halls, ten pin alleys, swings, pleasure boats, fishing tackle and bathing places are among the attractions, while the tables are famous for the good things spread upon them. The fare by railway from the city is a mere trifle, while boarding rates are exceedingly reasonable. We commend this excellent place of summer resort to our friends and the public generally.

United States Court—Judge McCandless.

In the admiralty case of John Edgar vs. Richard Calhoun et. al., which was argued some days since, the Court ordered a decree to be entered in favor of the libellant for the sum of fifty-nine dollars and costs.

The argument in the case of the owners of the steamboat Bayard vs. steam tug Coal Valley, was concluded yesterday morning. The Court reserved a decision.

In the bankruptcy branch of the Court, a petition was filed by Henry L. Hoffman, against whom a petition had been presented by Messrs. Pickersgill & Co., denying the alleged acts of bankruptcy. The Court ordered the issue to be tried before a jury at the October term.

Hired him Falsely.

Edward A. Aurentz alleges he was employed by G. W. Rodgers and Susannah Rodgers as clerk at the Mansion House. According to his statement he must have been a valuable acquisition, as he alleges they made sundry false representations to him to secure his services. What these representations were he did not state in the information which he made yesterday against the accused before Alderman Neeper. The matter will, however, be investigated, as the parties were arrested and gave bail for a hearing.

The Weather has been exceedingly warm during the past three days. We mention this fact because we have been told so about five hundred times by as many different persons within the period specified. Everybody appeared to think that it was very warm, but that he was alone the custodian of the important fact, and he took great pains that his neighbors should not be kept in ignorance of it for he made it his standing salutation. Nevertheless, the weather during the past seventy-two hours with the mercury dancing up between 95 and 100 degrees in the shade and 120 in the sun, has been almost unendurable. The only cool thing enjoyable by the poor penniless people who could not afford the luxury of a trip to the mountains, was the fact that the weather kept inside of a decent range until the breaking of the seasons abroad and with a terrible fury punished those who had endeavored to flee the heat of the city, but had missed the mark by coming home too early. Misery loves company.

Temperance Reform.

At a regular meeting of the temperance reform movement, held on Saturday afternoon, the following persons were added to the Committee: T. H. Nevin, N. P. Jones, Elias Reno, W. G. Macrum, W. H. Everson, John Wilson, Robert Orr, W. G. Johnston, James S. McCord, John A. Renshaw, Lowry Childs, Wallace Patrick, J. D. Carlisle, Philip James, William Smith, Edwin Wiles, John Hazelett, John Keown, William Brown, Royal Kallock, William Crawford, Jr., John G. Speer, Frudley Toner, Captain W. Dean, Francis Sellers, David C. Long, Ed. J. Wilkins, Geo. D. McGrew, J. G. Macfarlane, D. H. Fralich, Robert Brice, Luke B. Davidson, Jacob Rush, Matthias McGonnigle, W. F. Warren, W. W. Wallace.

After the discussion of several points bearing on the success of the temperance and reform movement, the Committee adjourned to meet next Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

The Smiths.

The Smiths are numerous. Nobody doubts that. They are likewise friendly, and Smith representatives occasionally meet for festive purposes. Jerry Smith and John Smith did so Saturday night. They are blacksmiths, but white men, a singular anomaly. Philip Smith's, on Smithfield street, was the saloon at which they made "a night o' it." They reside on Smith street, Allegheny, and started homeward before daybreak Sunday morning. Generally peaceful, on this occasion, pugilistic feelings seized upon them. They met another Smith on Federal street and expressed a desire to "sm—[hic] sm-ash [hic] 'im inter [hic] Smith (—) ereens." The stranger Smith objected and called on officer Jeremiah Smith, who arrested the demonstrative Smiths and locked them up. Last evening they only escaped being placed under the care of Deputy Warden Smith at the jail for a short period by paying the fines imposed.

The Water.

A member of the Special Committee appointed by Councils sometime since to examine the water supply basins and report to Councils, must have seen something during the examination that has not been made public. Since that time he has taken the precaution to have all water used at his residence for drinking purposes, boiled and filtered, before using. He says it has a salutary effect upon the water as well as upon the general health and comfort of those using it and recommends others to adopt this plan, as it will do away with the necessity of cleaning out the basins, or depriving persons from bathing therein. The method is to boil the water for several minutes, filter it into a stone jar, and after it has cooled sufficiently put in some good ice.

Alleged Felonious Assault.

Saturday afternoon Daniel Jackson appeared before Alderman McMasters and made information for felonious assault and battery against Joseph McLain, Pat Mulligan and seven others, Jackson is owner of a flatboat, which he used in trading between here and Oil City. The boat is now lying on the Allegheny river, below the Suspension Bridge. Friday, he states, he went up town to purchase a supply of provisions for another trip, and on his return found the cabin broken into by the accused, who were engaged in dancing and other festive amusements. He remonstrated with them, when, it is alleged, they fell upon and beat him very severely, abusing him so much that he was hardly able to get to the Alderman's office to relate the circumstances. Warrants issued.

Burglary.

The residence of R. M. Powers, on Centre avenue, was entered by burglars on Friday night, who obtained admittance by means of a second story rear window which was left open. They ransacked the house and rifled the pockets of the clothing of Mr. Powers and his sons, securing a large wallet filled with documents of a legal nature, a silver watch and thirty dollars in money. They were evidently in a hurry, as they left untouched a valuable lot of jewelry which was left by Mrs. Powers on a bureau. The thieves stole the entire contents of the boys' pockets. They left the wallet in the back yard of the house with the papers all safe. No clue exists to fasten their identity.

Transferred.

State alley was again represented in police circles on Saturday. The services of Alderman Thomas were secured for the second appearance, Mrs. Delphy and Mrs. Fairfax again figuring in assault and battery and disorderly conduct actions, Mrs. Delphy as complainant and Mrs. Fairfax as defendant. The defendant's offense, as alleged, consists in using unseemly language toward the Delphy stock, and applying a brick to the eye of Mrs. Fanny Delphy to the great detriment of that lady's personal appearance. The matter will be investigated at the earliest convenience of the parties interested.

Stolen Watches Recovered.

Some two weeks since we published an account of two robberies in Allegheny, in one of which a watch valued at ninety dollars was stolen from a Mr. Kerr, and on the preceding night Mr. Barr lost a silver watch valued at thirty dollars. Saturday afternoon officer Long, of the Mayor's police, ascertained where the watches were and recovered them. The thief, it appears, left the city Monday, but is known and will in all probability be captured, as Chief Hague is now on his track and will never let up until the thief is caged.

Twice Married.

About five years since, a young man and woman, residing in the vicinity of Connellsville, Fayette county, were married and lived together for over two years when the woman applied for a divorce, which, after going through the usual legal proceedings, was obtained. Subsequently, however, the difficulty, in consequence of which the divorce was applied for, was satisfactorily adjusted, and on Thursday of last week the former husband and wife came to McKeesport, where they were a second time joined in matrimony.

Pretty Women.—A comparatively few Ladies monopolize the Beauty as well as the attention of Society. This ought not to be so, but it is; and will be while men are foolish, and single out pretty faces for companions.

This can all be changed by using Hagan's Magnolia Balm, which gives the Bloom of Youth and a Refined sparkling Beauty to the Complexion, pleasing, powerful, and natural.

No Lady need complain of a red, tanned, freckeled or rustic Complexion who will invest 75 cents in Hagan's Magnolia Balm. Its effects are truly wonderful.

—The city of St. Paul, Minn., was thrown into a high state of excitement on Saturday by the announcement, through a morning paper, that Morris Lamprey, a well known and wealthy lawyer and batchelor of that city, who was just on the point of marrying a beautiful and wealthy young lady, had been sued for breach of promise by another young lady to whom Lamprey had been devoting assiduous attention for several years. The forsaken puts her damages at $50,000.

—The weather in Minnesota remains favorable for harvesting, which is progressing with great rapidity. Much less damage than was feared was done by the late storms, and but little complaint is heard from blight. The surplus crop will reach the former estimates, twenty millions of bushels, mostly No. 1.

—A comparative statement of the mortality of the cities of Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, from January 1st to July 1st, 1869, based upon official figures, shows that every 89th person died in Boston, every 104th in Cincinnati, every 111th in Chicago and every 110th in St. Louis.
